Does this booklet apply to me?

This information outlines the commitment of West Thames College to promote inclusivity and ensure equal opportunities for students with disabilities. The college strives to create an accessible and supportive learning environment that recognizes the diverse needs of all students.

The information in this booklet may apply to people who:

- have a learning difficulty and/or disability
- have a specific learning difficulty, e.g. dyslexia
- have a medical condition, e.g. epilepsy, diabetes, ME, etc.
- have a physical disability
- are neurodivergent
- are deaf or have a hearing difficulty
- are blind or partially sighted
- find communicating or remembering difficult
- have a temporary disability after an illness or an accident.

If you would like to receive support from the college but are not sure if your needs relate to the examples above, please contact the Head of Inclusion or the Curriculum and Quality Team Manager (CQTM) for Supported Learning for advice (see page 3 for contact details).

What is the college policy on disability?

The college believes that all students should be treated fairly, and aims to ensure that all students are able to access, participate and progress within their chosen learning programme. We will make all possible reasonable adjustments to ensure that college facilities are accessible to all people and that the learning needs of all students are met.

We also aim to ensure the following –

- Compliance with relevant legislation, including the Equality Act 2010.
- Provide a welcoming and inclusive environment for students with disabilities.
- That students with disabilities have equal access to all college facilities, courses, and activities.
- Promote awareness and understanding of disability issues among staff and students.

What are my rights as a disabled student?

The Equality Act 2010 outlines the law relating to disabled people and education. Under this law the college is required to ensure that:

- you are not treated less favourably than other students
- you are provided with reasonable adjustments to avoid disadvantage
- you are provided with appropriate support aids and services
- you are not substantially disadvantaged by our physical premises.

How should I tell the college about the support or adjustments I need?

If you are a new applicant or a new student

Unless your local authority has contacted the college because you have an Education Health and Care Plan (EHCP). All students with disabilities or learning difficulties who are not going to our Supported Learning department are required to contact the Head of Inclusion or a member of the Inclusion team and discuss their support needs prior to enrolment in order to determine whether these needs can be met.

When you apply

When you apply to come to college you should fill in the section on the application form asking about support. This will let us know that we need to speak with you to discuss support and/or adjustments. You will be invited into college to discuss your support needs with the relevant team members.

If you have substantial support requirements you will need to give us a copy of your Education Health & Care Plan (EHCP) supplied by your local authority. You can bring a family member, carer or advocate to this meeting with you.

At enrolment

If you haven't told us about your support needs or adjustments by the time you come to enrol, you can let us know at enrolment by completing the Additional Support section on the enrolment form and by asking to see the Inclusion Team.

When you start

Please tell us about your support or adjustment needs, including for examinations as soon as you have started college. If you would like to speak to someone after you have enrolled you can contact any of the staff listed on page 3, as well as your student learning adviser or student services who will advise you of what to do.

If you are a returning student

If you are re-enrolling, you will have the opportunity on the re-enrolment form to tell us about any support needs or adjustments you require for the new term.

If you have not told us of any needs when you re-enrol, please tell us as soon as possible by contacting any of the people listed on page 3.

How we review and monitor your progress if you have an EHCP

At college, we support students who have an Education, Health and Care Plan (EHCP) by continually reviewing progress made against EHCP targets and then conducting a formal review every year. This is called an annual review, and it helps us make sure the support you receive is still right for you. We follow the rules set out in the SEND Code of Practice. During the review, we look at how things are going, talk about any changes needed, and plan for the future. We always include you, your family, college staff, and any other professionals who support you. Your views and those of your parent or carer are really important, and we welcome your input to help us provide the best support possible

What kind of support could I have?

The type of support available will depend on your individual needs. Some examples of support and adjustments you could receive are listed below.

If you are visually impaired:

- Time and support to get used to the site
- A sighted guide or support assistant
- A reader and scribe for class work and exams
- Materials in large print, Braille or audio format
- Course materials in advance
- Extra time to complete work and assignments
- Assistive technology and software
- Description of visual information and props.

If you have speech or language difficulties:

- A support assistant to aid with communication
- A communication board or assistive technology
- Modified assessment arrangements and extra time for any presentations or group work.
- If this is included in your EHCP, referral to one to one or group sessions with Speech and Language therapists

If you have a physical disability:

- A practical assistant to support you with physical tasks
- Escort support to help you get around the building in the initial months of your course
- Adapted furniture
- Equipment to record lectures
- A scribe or note-taker
- Extra time for coursework and exams
- Adapted computer equipment
- A parking space.
- Support with personal care if required

If you have a hearing impairment:

- A communication support worker or sign language interpreter
- Additional learning support, e.g. for literacy and concept support
- A personal converser and induction loops
- Extra time for assessments and examinations, if you usually have this.
- Visual recordings with subtitles or transcripts
- A note-taker.

If you have a medical condition (this may include diabetes, epilepsy, sickle cell anaemia, ME, sleep disorders, etc):

- Alternative arrangements for work and deadlines if fatigued, stressed or effects of medication are an issue
- Equipment to record lectures
- A room to rest whilst on campus
- Facilitate a plan for medical support and emergency arrangements with other curriculum and other professionals, where required.
- Ongoing communication with staff regarding your condition and how it is affecting you
- Contact from staff during any periods of absence
- Flexibility in punctuality and attendance if treatments or therapies are tightly scheduled
- Specialist equipment or technology.

If you have a specific learning difficulty, such as dyslexia:

- Additional learning support sessions, e.g. for structuring work
- Computer software or a portable reading pen to help with reading and writing
- Handouts and exam papers in a preferred format, e.g. on coloured paper, or a different font
- Extended library loan periods
- Extra time to complete coursework and assessments
- Coloured overlays
- A scribe, reader or support assistant for exams, if you usually have this.

If you have a learning disability:

- Materials presented in plain English or with symbols
- Additional learning support sessions, e.g. to understand assignments and put together answers
- Extra time for coursework and exams
- A support assistant in lessons
- Specific tasks and any changes explained clearly
- Extended library loan periods.

If you have a diagnosis of autism or neurodiversity:

- Opportunity to familiarise yourself with the college and your department before the start of term.
- A support assistant
- Additional learning support sessions, e.g. to help with language skills or structuring work
- Extra time to read, understand and answer questions and exams
- Have information conveyed in more than one way (e.g. spoken and written down)
- Preparation for any changes to your college timetable or routine

Support Staff

The college employs a team of highly qualified skilled and experienced staff to support you in various ways. This includes our teachers, managers and support assistants. Our support assistants support students within the classroom, at lunch times (where applicable) or for personal care. They work across the college providing in class support, 1:1 support when needed, mentoring sessions and study skills workshops for students.

What equipment (assistive tech) is available?

We have a large amount of equipment and technology at the college to assist students. Many of these resources can be loaned out to individual students, whilst other items are based on site for use by all students.

An example of some of the equipment available is listed below.

- A range of different keyboards and key guards
- Scanning/reading pens for literacy difficulties
- A range of mice (roller ball, joystick, glide point etc)
- Recording devices and transcribers
- Large key and talking scientific calculators
- CCTV magnifiers, compact video magnifiers and magnifying glass
- Predictive text software
- Laptops
- Non-slip mats
- Personal conversers and portable induction loops
- Adjustable height tables
- Screen reading, voice recognition and magnification software
- Mind-mapping software
- Reading, writing and dyslexia support software
- Large screen monitors
- Electronic spellcheckers/thesaurus
- Coloured overlays and pen grips.

If you require a particular piece of equipment which is not listed above, please contact the Inclusion Team (see contact details on page 3), who will make every effort to ensure you have the equipment you need.

Additional learning support and study skills

Additional out-of-class learning support is available to students who need some extra help with their literacy, numeracy, language and general study skills in order to succeed at college.

Students can receive help with the following:

- reading and writing
- number skills
- spelling and grammar
- understanding assignments
- planning, organising and structuring coursework
- memory and revision strategies
- note-taking skills
- strategies for specific learning difficulties such as dyslexia.

If you require learning support or if you have needs relating to dyslexia/dyscalculia, you can speak to Lia Fernandez (see page 3 for contact details) and she will arrange the appropriate sessions for you.

The Student Counselling Service

The Student Counselling Service is a free and confidential service available to all students enrolled at West Thames College. It is available 5 days a week at the Isleworth campus and on Wednesday mornings at the Feltham Skills Centre.

To make an appointment either drop by Room A003 (in the student common room), phone 020 8326 2484 or leave a message in the post box outside the counsellors' office. Alternatively, you can just drop in for a chat or ask a member of staff to arrange an appointment on your behalf.

A leaflet providing information about the Student Counselling Service is available in the student common room.

Information About the Supported Learning

Department

Courses offered

Skills Builder (Entry 1, Entry 2, Entry 3 and Level 1)

These courses are designed for young people with mild to severe learning disability who have an Education, Health and Care Plan (EHCP). These courses are individually designed to help students achieve their potential, both educationally and socially, and make the transition to a mainstream vocational course, training or employment. Students are encouraged to develop personal and vocational skills with the support of a tutor and specialist support assistants. Students study three main vocational pathways in catering and hospitality, gardening and horticulture and business and ICT alongside English and maths.

Independence Hub -Personal and Social Development Pathway

Our Independence Hub Personal & Social Development Pathways offer very small group provision with a high level of support, designed for young people with profound and multiple learning disabilities (PMLD). This thematic, sensory programme provides activities that foster a sense of belonging and community among the students. The programme is designed to encourage interaction and collaboration, promoting social skills and communication among students, whilst incorporating practical activities that focus on developing essential life skills relating to daily living, tailored to each student's developmental level.

Support for our Students

All courses have built in support according to the needs of the group and staff provide additional help during break and lunch times as well as helping with personal care where required. Support staff also offer additional guidance and encouragement in group sessions, and where identified Speech and Language therapy and Occupational Therapy is provided. The college works in partnership with Mencap to provide travel training to students who are ready to take this next step in preparing for adulthood. The college has a wide range of facilities which are all accessible to the students. The transition from Supported Learning to a vocational or technical cross-college course, training or employment is carefully planned and supported.

Project SEARCH- Progress to Work with a Supported Internship

“Project SEARCH offers refreshing solutions for young people with disabilities transitioning from school to work and can help meet both students’ as well as employers’ needs.”

This supported internship programme is designed for young people with learning disabilities or a diagnosis of ASD, in their last year of full-time education. Our students are based at the London Borough of Hounslow in Hounslow House and the Sheraton Skyline Hotel along with other businesses in the local area. The students will divide their day/week between studying for a City & Guilds qualification in Employability, and gaining valuable on-site work experience. Over the academic year students are placed in a number of job rotations matched to their skills and interests including reception, IT, gym, restaurant, retail, engineering and procurement.

For their studies the students are based in a classroom with a full-time tutor employed by West Thames College. They are also supported by a full-time job coach with our supported employment partner Kaleidoscope.

Project SEARCH was founded in the US in 1996. There are approximately 250 projects in five countries – US, Canada, UK, Australia and Ireland. The aim of the project is to assist young people with learning disabilities with their transition from education to the world of work. This transformative programme improves the chances of a young person with learning disabilities finding meaningful employment from the national average of 0.5% up to 60% and above.

GSK Brentford in partnership with West Thames College was the first UK private sector employer to host Project SEARCH.

Eligibility criteria:

- Must have learning disability and have an Education, Health and Care Plan
- Age 17-24
- Want to work
- Potential to develop skills and work required to meet business needs at our host businesses.
- Commit to 5 day per week programme
- Family or network supportive of applicant going to work
- Be an independent traveller or be undertaking travel training

Can I get help to arrange transport?

If public transport is not accessible to you, you may be eligible to receive transport to and from college through your local authority. You will need to contact your local authority and request a school transport application form.

Is the college accessible?

Physical access

Almost all of the college is accessible by wheelchair users and all classrooms and student areas are accessible. If necessary, most classes can be moved to more suitable locations near a lift or accessible toilet if required.

The college also has a range of accessible bathrooms, with hoists and transfer aids available and staff who have training in providing such care.

Signage and maps

Where a main route or entrance is not accessible, alternative accessible routes are signposted. All lifts are signposted with details of the nearest alternative lift so you know where to go if a lift is not working for any reason.

You will also find clear signage across the college and particularly at the entrance to each block, giving details of the departments and rooms that are housed in each area.

Furniture and equipment

A range of equipment and furniture is available across the college (such as adjustable height desks), which can be placed where you require them. In addition, key student areas such as the Learning Resources Centre and IT drop-in also have furniture and equipment permanently available to allow access to resources. If you have any access difficulties, please contact the Ann Tucker who is the Head of Inclusion to arrange any adjustments you require.

Emergency evacuation

If you are not able to access stairs, have difficult hearing the emergency alarm, or if you require assistance to exit the building in an emergency you must have a Personal Emergency Evacuation Plan. This plan is called a PEEP and will be carried out by your student learning adviser (SLA) when you start college.

What happens if I go on work experience?

If your course has a work experience module, it is important that the Employability Coach knows about your support needs or any adjustments you may require for your work placement.

If you have already met with the Head of Inclusion to discuss your needs in college, you will have been asked for your permission for this information to be passed on to the Employability Coach already.

The college may provide a support worker for the duration of a work placement if this is required, as well as the loan of some equipment or aids that you may need. A support worker can also check out employers' facilities and access arrangements in advance to ensure that the placement is accessible for your needs. We can also advise employers on suitable adjustments if these are required.

If you have not told the college about any needs because it is not relevant to your course, but you think it might be relevant for work experience, you should contact the Head of Inclusion or your student learning adviser (SLA).

As it can often take a long time to find a suitable placement, it is important that the Head of Inclusion or your student learning adviser knows about your needs as soon as possible.

What arrangements can be made for exams and assessments?

At West Thames College, we are committed to ensuring that every student has the opportunity to achieve their full potential in examinations. In line with the latest regulations from the Joint Council for Qualifications (JCQ), access arrangements are provided for students with a long-term learning difficulty, disability, or medical condition that significantly affects their exam performance. These arrangements are based on the student's *normal way of working in the classroom and are intended to reflect the support they routinely receive.

Arrangements can include:

- Separate room
- Use of a computer
- Extra time
- Large print or coloured question paper
- BSL interpretation
- Reader
- Scribe
- Prompter
- Supervised rest breaks.

If you think you will need exam arrangements to be made, it is your responsibility to let the college know when you start your course.

Please note that you will need to supply evidence from medical professionals and psychologists – e.g. Education and Health Care Plan, Educational Psychologist's report, Form 8 from your previous school or WRATs test that is in date, clearly states the required arrangement and supports your normal way of working. Please be aware that it can take months for exam arrangements to be agreed so please request these before December.

Additional reasonable adjustments, in-line with the Equality Act 2010, may also be available, but these must be requested well in advance to ensure they can be implemented appropriately.

Please note that all adjustments must uphold the integrity of the examination process. For example, if a student qualifies for certain arrangements, they may be required to sit their exam in a smaller, separate room. We also remind all students and parents that the college has clear rules regarding dress and conduct during examinations, which are published on our website.

The best way to let us know is to complete the form on page 25 (called Application for exam adjustments – Students with disabilities and/or learning difficulties), tear it off and take it to the Exams window. Spare copies of this form are available from the Exams Office.

You should also make sure you speak with your tutor so that you know what type of exam you have and what arrangements you will need.

If you have already met with the Head of Inclusion to discuss your needs in college, you will have been asked for your permission for this information to be passed on to the Exams Office already.

If you have not told anyone about your needs, or if you want to make sure that appropriate exam arrangements are being made, you should speak to your SLA.

West Thames College Parents and Carers Charter - Positive Working Policy

Working in Partnership with Parents and Carers

- At West Thames College, we recognise that working in partnership with parents and carers is essential to supporting your son or daughter's learning, progress, and overall wellbeing. We are committed to creating a safe, respectful, and inclusive environment for all students, staff, parents, and carers.
- We have high expectations of every student, and our staff model the behaviours and values we expect from our students, in-line with the College's values and principles. For full details of how we work with parents and carers please see our website Advice for Parents
- Clear expectations and guidelines for behaviour are outlined in our Standards for Success document, which you can find on page 2 of our Parent's Guide on our website Advice for Parents.

Support for Progression and Transitions – Moving on From College to Your Next Step

All students will receive help and advice from your Student Learning Advisor (SLA) or Course Tutor, or Job Coach for deciding on your next steps once you have finished college. If you have an EHCP this will be discussed in your Annual Review. The college has a Careers Hub to help you make choices and find the correct career path for you. Please see the contact details on page 3.

Money and funding for disabled students

Do I have to pay fees?

Information on whether or not you have to pay fees, or if you are able to have reduced fees, can be found in the college prospectus. If you read this and have still have some questions, you can contact the Information Centre.

Please remember that Personal Independence Payments (PIP) is not a means tested benefit and therefore does not entitle you to have reduced fees on its own.

Who pays for my support/adjustments?

The college normally receives money from local authorities or our funding body to pay for additional support needed by disabled students (who are not on higher education courses). The college can use these funds to provide the types of support described on pages 7-10. Therefore, you can generally expect your disability-related needs to be met by the college.

If you are studying on a full cost course or you are an international student, you are expected to cover all your learning costs. As the college does not receive any funding for these courses, there may be limits to the type of support we can provide.

Of course, many adjustments will cost very little or no money at all and the college will make all efforts to ensure that this type of support is in place. However, if the support you require is likely to be expensive, the college may not be able to meet these needs. If we cannot pay for the support you require, you may be able to apply for some support from charitable trusts (see page 23).

Who owns the equipment that I need?

If you require a particular piece of equipment (e.g. a laptop etc) we will supply this for use at the college. However, the equipment will still belong to the college and would not be yours to keep at home. You will need to return this equipment when you leave your course.

If you require specialist equipment to use at home you can apply to a charitable trust to pay for this (see page 22).

Learner Support Funds

Learner Support Funds are available from the college to help with various expenses. This might be to help you pay for transport to go on a trip, books and equipment, and many other things.

If you need help paying for the items you need, you should contact Student Services for more information and help with applying.

Please see our website Financial Support

Finance for higher education students

Disabled Students' Allowance

If you are studying on a higher education course you may be eligible for Disabled Students' Allowances (DSAs)

Disabled Students' Allowances (DSAs) help you pay for extra costs you have on your course because of your disability. You can get the allowances on top of your other student finance.

How much you get depends on your individual needs – not your household income.

You can get help with the costs of:

- specialist equipment, for example a computer if you need one because of your disability or your current one does not meet your study needs
- non-medical helpers
- extra travel because of your disability
- other disability-related costs of studying.

DSAs do not cover disability-related costs you'd have if you were not attending a course, or costs that any student might have.

For more information on DSAs and how to apply, please see:

Help if you're a student with a learning difficulty, health problem or disability: Disabled Students' Allowance - GOV.UK

Further information is available on the UCAS website:

Advice for disabled students and students with SEND | UCAS

Trusts and charitable support

Some national and local organisation offer grants to students who have a particular disability or who are studying a particular course. These grants may be available to help pay for equipment, transport, fees, books, living costs, etc.

If you want more information on charitable trusts and how to apply, you can contact the Student Services. Please see our website Financial Support

What do I do if I have a complaint to make?

If you have a complaint or feel that the college is not doing what it says in this booklet, there is a formal college complaints procedure.

If your complaint is about disability discrimination or the support you are receiving please discuss this with the relevant manager either Head of Inclusion or CQTM for Supported Learning first, who is there to investigate and address your concerns.

If you have done this and are still not happy, you can make a formal complaint.

The student booklet explains how to go about making a complaint. You will need to fill in a form to do this. If need some help to fill in this form or to put your complaint down in writing, you can ask any member of staff to help you do this.

Please see our website for more details How to Complain
